

Dear Parents,

On Saturday 23rd May, it is Elmer's birthday!

As we have recently designed and painted our own school Elmer for a Maidstone trail (this has been postponed to next year), I thought it would be lovely for the children to join in the celebrations from home.

The link below will take you to the main page from which you can access the activity pack and two YouTube links, one of which is the author, David McKee, reading the original Elmer book.

I have also included a link which takes you straight to the Elmer activity pages.

If your child creates something they are proud of, please send pictures to the office and I will make a collage to share with you on Twitter and on the website.

Thank you,

Margaret Harrison
